ANOTHER BIG LIQUOR TRIAL ON

Ike Miller, John McAtee, Wilson and Kay, of Lexington, Facing Serious Charges

Another big liquor case started in Federal Court before Judge A. M. J. Cochran here Monday morning. It is the case of the United States against a number of well known Lexington men who are charged with having forged permits to obtain whiskey from the Frankfort distillery at Frankfort and the Dowling distillery in Anderson county; transporting liquor, possessing liquor and conspiring to violate the laws of the United States. The latter charge is a felony and, if convicted on it, the defendants will face penitentiary sentences. The defendants are Ike Miller, John McAtee, W. J. Wilson and Louis Kay. They are represented by a number of prominent attorneys, Burnam & Greenleaf and G. Murray Smith, of Richmond, D. Gray Falconer and Bailey D. Berry, of Lexington. Federal Clerk J. W. Menzies did not return for this case, but sent Deputy Clerk Spence Fennell, of Lexington, over to attend to the court orders.

It is expected at the conclusion of this case that Judge Cochran will sentence all the prisoners convicted at the session of court last week.

Considerable time was occupied with making up the jury panel for this trial, the attorneys questioning talesmen closely regarding their feelings toward any one accused of violation of the liquor laws. A number of new jurors were brought here from other sections. Practically all the morning was consumed with selection of the jury and clearing away preliminary motions, etc.

Judge Cochran Friday issued an injunction restraining seventy officers and members of the United Mine Workers of America, including one woman, from picketing the property of the Stearns Coal Company in McCreary county, from interfering with employees of the company or from "conspiracy to force the company to operate on a closed shop basis, or from trespassing on the grounds of the company or by violence, violence, abusive language or intimidation causing any man employed to quit work."

This is the first step taken by coal operators in Kentucky since the beginning of the nationwide coal strike on April 1 to prevent union organizers interfering with mines now operating.

R. L. Stearns, owner of the two companies, operating in McCreary county, in whose name the petitions for injunction were filed, recited in the petition that thirty-five miners had been ordered to vacate their homes.

On May 6 in Maysville Judge Cochran will consider a permanent injunction in the case.

RICHMOND 'SHINE' CAUGHT IN LEXINGTON

The Lexington papers say that a man who gave his name as Jeff Neely, of Richmond, was caught with a load of 'shine there Saturday. The Leader said of it:

Fifteen gallons of white whiskey were seized, two men arrested and an automobile confiscated when Sheriff Powell Bosworth, Deputy Al Brumfield and Prohibition Agent Unthank saw two men and two kegs in an automobile on Water street near Limestone street.

The officers had a "tip" that a cargo of liquor was coming to a soft drink stand in the vicinity of Limestone and Water streets, they said, and secreted themselves upstairs in Jackson Hall to watch for its arrival. They saw the automobile drive up and went down at once to investigate its contents.

The driver saw the officers approaching and started to drive away as the three officers made flying tackles for the side of the car. Agent Unthank and Sheriff Bosworth failed to get their feet on the running board and had to let go as the machine gathered speed westward down Water street. Deputy Brumfield landed, however, and by the time the automobile reached a point opposite the entrance to the police station he had "persuaded" the driver at the point of his pistol to stop the machine.

The men in charge of the car gave their names as Jeff Neely, of Richmond, and J. W. Chastain, of West High street. They were arrested by the county authorities and gave bond for $300 each for their appearance for trial before County Judge E. H. Doak Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. U. S. Commissioner C. N. Wiard issued federal warrants for Neely and Chastain and for J. P. Chastain, said to be the owner of the automobile. The car was seized and will be sold under provision of the national prohibition act.

No change has been made by union officials in their claim that at least 680,000 workers have joined the suspensions. They said also the peak of their strength has not yet been attained. The union program calls for further efforts to close the non-union fields particularly those of Central Pennsylvania.

POOL SELLS WEED TO R. J. REYNOLDS CO.

Announcement that the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association had sold another "good big order" to the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company was made at Lexington last week by President James C. Stone.

While a number of sales have been made since it was announced that the redried tobacco was ready for market, the sale Friday was the first in which the identity of the purchaser has been made known.

The purchase by the Reynolds company is the third large purchase of leaf made by this company through the Burley Association. No information was available as to the actual amount sold or the prices to be paid. The sale was negotiated by Vice President T. H. Kirk, one of the leading men in the Reynolds organization.

Preparations continued in the office of Secretary H. Lee Earley and his assistants for the payment of the second distribution of money to the growers as soon as the details can be arranged.

That there will be no lack of demand for the redried tobacco was indicated by the receipt of additional inquiries for this tobacco and for price schedules by President Stone, in charge of sales, and by personal calls of representatives of the manufacturers on the head of the Burley Association.

P. O. INSPECTOR HAS PRAISE FOR STOCKTON

When Postoffice Inspector Victor Beck checked retiring Postmaster R. C. Stockton out of office Sunday night and turned the keys over to Postmaster Robert R. Burnam, Jr., he remarked that he found the Richmond postoffice, its accounts and books in perhaps the best shape of any office he had checked over for some time. Employees of the office presented Mr. Stockton with a handsome gold Shiner's pin, set with a diamond, in token of their esteem for their chief of the past eight years. Mr. Burnam was at his desk early Monday morning, "getting onto the ropes."

"PINAFORE" PROVES DELIGHTFUL EVENT

Paul A. Barnes, the gifted young successor to Dr. S. S. Myers as head of the music department at Eastern, gave a splendid presentation of the comic opera, Pinafore, before a crowded house on Friday evening.

The characters in the cast were selected from the Glee Clubs and private pupils of Mr. Barnes, who have been studying music during the past year, and were as follows:

Buttercups (Mrs. Cripps)—Beulah Lowe.
Boatswain—Wm. French Todd.
Dick Deadeye—Gordon Bradford.

Ralph Rackstraw—Ray Foster.
Capt. Cochran—H. Higgins.
Josephine (his daughter)—Christine McEwan.

Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.—Paul M. Rush.
Hebe (his cousin)—Sallie Gentry.

Sailors—Leslie Evans, Henry Arnold, J. Dorland Coates, I. B. Shearer, Ozni Allen, J. C. Ballard.
Sir Joseph's Cousins and Aunts—Margaret Lane, Alberta Allen, Eloise Samuels, Fern Stone, Virginia Hisle, Martha Smock, Ann Wallace, Virginia Kautsky.

Throughout the entire program the work done by these young people was of a high order showing the splendid training which they had received. Rarely do amateurs show so much ability to portray humor with such absolute absence of buffoonery.

A very charming part of the opera was the "Trio Scene" in the second act, composed by Mr. Barnes. The Captain (looking every one of his 72-inches a captain) surprised his fleeing daughter, Josephine, and her lover, Ralph, as they were making their plans for departure, by appearing on the top of the cabin with his lantern. Of course, the elopers were side tracked and the play continued.

Wholesome fun was the order of the evening, and the audience responded in a most appreciative manner.

The great success of Pinafore justifies the music loving people of Eastern and their town friends in having happy anticipations for the May Festival which is the next treat Mr. Barnes has in store for them.
